20i FOSS Awards Winners Announced

Hosting company 20i have announced the results of their Free and Open Source Software Awards. The Awards were launched to celebrate the role free software plays in our lives every day. From publishing new personal blog posts to managing an entire business, FOSS is the cornerstone for much of our daily creativity and productivity.

Since the start of the voting on 8th March, over 5,000 votes were cast in the polls across ten categories. The winners are:

- Communication: Rocket.chat
- CRM & Support: Chaskiq
- Knowledge & Documentation: Joplin
- Project Management: Focalboard
- Email: Thunderbird
- Password Manager: Passbolt
- Community & Social: Flarum
- Analytics: Matomo
- Ecommerce: OpenCart
- CMS: WordPress

20i Managing Director Lloyd Cobb commented "With over 5,000 votes cast, it was great to see so much passion and enthusiasm from the open source community. In the end, these awards are about celebrating all free and open source software, not just the winners.

We wanted to highlight the fantastic work of the whole FOSS community, who often contribute to their projects in their spare time. Through their selfless work, they make our lives better."

The full results including the winners and highly recommended software can be found on the FOSS Awards page.

About 20i
20i is one of the leading web hosts and domain registrars. Our Reseller Hosting, WordPress Hosting and VPS are the perfect choice for agencies, businesses, freelancers and side-hustlers.

Our mission is to provide word-class hosting experiences that surpass our customers' expectations, by developing easy to use, intuitive and high-performance products backed by an expert support team.
To learn more about the company visit www.20i.com.